Dr Alexander Khominsky & Dr. Jamie Foong

TOPIC- "Implants and Aesthetic Papilla Management"

Predictable papilla management in the aesthetic implant zone is one of the most complex management areas in high-aesthetic cases. This two-part lecture bridges key periodontic strategies such as soft tissue grafting, different extraction and grafting techniques; with prosthodontic techniques like provisional conditioning, smile design and white-pink manipulation. Clinicians will gain insight into interdisciplinary protocols for restoring natural peri-implant soft tissue aesthetics.

PRESIDENT Gwendolyn Huang

SECRETARY / TREASURER Kip Homewood

Dr Alexander Khominsky- Specialist Periodontist - Dr. Alex Khominsky graduated DUX from Melbourne High School, and the University of Adelaide with multiple awards, including the Pierre Fauchard Academy Award. He earned a BScDent (Hons) in Craniofacial Biology, publishing research. Alex worked at The Alfred Hospital, treating medically complex patients and publishing on Osteonecrosis of the Jaw. After private practice and teaching, he completed his specialty training with a Doctor of Clinical Dentistry in Periodontics. Alex has a special interest in periodontal medicine, implants and bone and soft tissue grafting to enhance functional, aesthetic and longevity outcomes. Alex has joined Perio Centre as a centre of excellence in periodontal and surgical care for patients to continue providing the highest quality of care. Alex consults and treats in Malvern, Brighton and regionally in Wodonga, including treatment under IV/GA Sedation. He also leads the General Dental Residency, aiming to improve the successful careers of all dental professionals through education.

Dr. Jamie Foong – Specialist Prosthodontist - Dr. Jamie Foong is a specialist Prosthodontist with extensive experience in advanced prosthodontics and implant dentistry. He completed both his undergraduate dental degree and postgraduate specialist degree at the University of Melbourne in 2011, with his doctoral research focused on zirconia and titanium implant abutments. He has been involved with education at several major Australian Universities. Jamie works in private practice and has recently started working in Glen Iris, Melbourne. Jamie works closely with local specialists and dentists and has a strong interest in digital dentistry, implant-supported restorations, and ceramics. He is the current President and Treasurer of the Australian Prosthodontic Society (VIC and Federal), a Fellow of FADI and AANZP, and a member of the ITI and ADA.
